

Elks' Memorial.

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Richmond Lodge of Elks held its memorial services in W. First Christian church. Dr. Hugh McLellan, of San Antonio, Texas, delivered the address. Dr. McLellan was formerly pastor of this church and he was greeted by a large concourse of friends. His address was a very able and eloquent one. Dr. McLellan has a large number of friends in this community, who are greatly interested in him and his family, and he has received a most royal welcome here. Mr. Elmer Deatherage, the Exalted Ruler of the Lodge, was the master of ceremonies. Mr. J. W. Wagers was the Organist and directed the line of march from the lodge rooms to the church.

The music was of a high order and the following program was rendered: Organ Prelude—Funeral March—Beethoven Hymn—Nearer My God to Thee—Solo—Mr. Grayston Lewis. Automobile Case Affirmed.

The Court of Appeals has affirmed the judgment of the Madison circuit court in the case of the Richmond Lumber Co. against Butler. It will be remembered that this case was tried at the October term, 1913. On account of the absence of Judge J. M. Benton, Mr. Grant E. Lilly was agreed on by the parties to act as Special Judge.

The case arose out of the attachment of an automobile by the Lumber Company, alleging that it belonged to Gahner, Dodge & Malby. Mrs. Butler claimed the machine and filed suit against the company for a wrongful attachment. The case was fought with unusual energy by both sides, but Mrs. Butler won and the jury awarded her a judgment for $840.00 damages. The company appealed and lost again. Judge Lilly was sustained in his rulings in every particular.

"The Man Sings."

The Man Sings, and with a tenderness and charm that catches the listening ear, for this little volume of verse, by Roscoe Gilmore Stott, bears a message of love and cheer which goes straight to our hearts "with the power that belongs to the secrets which lie hidden at our life's core." That these beautiful lyrics may be read with the appreciation they merit, is our earnest wish.

Mr. Stott's style is distinctive and his book of verse makes an appeal to the human heart. His poems, of most artistic completeness are: "Tomorrow's Land, a Lullaby," "Day and Night," "My Father," "The Gypsy Song," "When The Organist Plays" and "L'envol."

To the author we extend our good wishes.

Revival Closes.

The revival at the First Christian church, conducted by Dr. Yuell for the past two weeks, came to a close on last Thursday night, after having received into the church by confession, letter and statement 100 members.

Dr. Yuell made a profound impression on the public and was greeted throughout the latter part of the meeting with large crowds. His preaching was of the highest order and he has undoubtedly accomplished much good in this community. These meetings closed to the regret of a host of people, who thought that they should have continued. It is safe to say that Mr. Yuell conducted one of the best evangelistic meetings that has ever been held in our city. The community was stirred from center to circumference; the revival was the topic of conversation everywhere. Men who had lost interest in the church had that interest renewed; people who had not attended church services for years were regular attendants and will continue to be. On the last night of the meeting Mr. Yuell was invited by a unanimous rising vote to return to our city at some future time for another evangelistic campaign.

The free-will offering given to Dr. Yuell on the night of the Ben Hur lecture amounted to $155. People were loud in their praise of him as a preacher. Mr. Grayston Lewis won everybody to him by his affability and his beautiful singing. He is certain to make a place for himself either in the ranks of singing evangelists or on the concert platform, whichever he may choose as his life's work.

CRACOW UNDER SIEGE

Russian Forces at Gates of Ancient Galician Fortress.

Combined German and Austrian Armies Start Titanic Struggle to Check Cossacks.

By FRANCIS LAVELLE MURRAY. International News Service Correspondent. Petrograd, Dec. 7.—Several sorties made during the night by the Austro-German garrison at Cracow were repulsed by the Russians, it was announced at military headquarters. The Russian army under General Dmtriev is only two miles from the defenses of the city and is preparing for the siege of the Galician fortress.

The Austrian population in the city is fleeing in thousands toward Vienna. German residents are hastening northward. Refugees from the city are spreading alarm enough in northern Hungary, but something like panic has been caused by the reappearance of Russian troops on the Hungarian plain.

Military experts estimate that the Germans have lost two-thirds of their army in Poland. The general impression on all sides is that the Vistula Warthe fighting has been incomparably more severe than anything experienced before in this war. The German losses have been appalling. There were several critical moments in the fighting north of Lodz. One Russian division held its ground against two German army corps, and finally drove them back. But for the late arrival of one Russian army corps the battle would have finished in a complete victory a week ago. The strategic position meant annihilation or surrender had all gone right.

Petrograd newspapers publish the statement that the Germans lost 100,000 men in fighting their way out of the trap set for them at Lodz, and have been unable to renew the offensive on account of terrible losses and exhaustion. The battle was the bloodiest and most pitiless of the war. Many regiments had less than a hundred men left. The Germans fell in rows, but their comrades buried themselves again and again against the Russians.

The Germans are scattering their forces along the whole battle line, according to a correspondent at the front. "A German corps which was entangled a week ago near the railway junction of Koluszki, inside the line between Lodz and Lodz," says the dispatch, "made an opening by furious bayonet charges through which about twelve thousand men escaped."

"The remainder of the corps, which was entangled in the neighborhood of Koluszki, numbering 30,000, have all been killed, wounded or taken prisoners."

New Pastor to be Installed. Installation services of the new pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Dr. R. L. Telford, will take place in the church next Sunday morning, 13th. Services by Dr. J. G. McAllister, of Louisville.

FRENCH INFANTRY TAKE TRENCHES

Asserted in Paris That Appreciable Progress Has Been Made Against Germans.

MAKE GAIN OF 500 METERS

Fighting Very Hot in the Argonne Region, Where Numerous Trenches Have Been Captured, and Counter-Attacks Repulsed.

Paris, Dec. 7.—Successful results of the offensive operations by the allies in the north are announced in the official communiques issued here. It must be of appreciable progress has been made against the Germans north of the River Lys. The French infantry, making an attack at dawn, captured with one charge two lines of the enemy's trenches and made a gain of 500 meters (about one-third of a mile).

Fighting is Terrific. The fighting has become apparently terrific, the various opposing forces advancing from village to village. The statement says that the allies hold part of the village of Wiedendref, northwest of Langemarck.

"To the north of the Lys we have realized appreciable progress. Our infantry, attacking at dawn, took with a single charge two lines of trenches. The gain was 500 meters. A portion of the hamlet of Wiedendref, one kilometer north of Langemarck, remains in our hands. Before Poesele, halfway between Dixmude and Ypres, we have taken on the right bank of the canal a roadhouse, over which there had been sharp fighting for a month.

The enemy has tried without success, with a violent attack of heavy artillery, to force us to evacuate the ground we have won. "In the region of Arras and in the Champagne district, there have been intermittent cannonades here and there. Reims has been bombarded with particular intensity.

"For our part, we have destroyed with our heavy artillery numerous earthworks. "In the Argonne region, the fighting is very hot all the time. We have captured numerous trenches and have repulsed all counter-attacks."

The German forces that attempted to invest Belfort were met by a French army which moved eastward to attack the defenses of Altkirch and Muehlhausen. The consequence is that another big battle is developing from Dammerkirch northward through Senheim and thence into the passes of the Vosges, west of Colmar.

The French troops hold strong positions on German soil to which they can fall back, if necessary. It is reported from Basel, Switzerland, that the sound of heavy cannonade can be heard from the German border. The main struggle centers on a line extending near Altkirch, Dammerkirch and Senheim.

CITY OF LODZ IS CAPTURED

BY LEGIONS OF KAISER—ROMANIA SAID TO HAVE DECIDED TO JOIN THE ALLIES.

Berlin Flashes Victory in Battle for Russian Strategic Point in Northern Poland.

Western Newspaper Union News Service. Berlin, via London.—It is officially announced that the Germans occupied Lodz Sunday, the Russians retreating after severe losses. The Germans must be credited with winning the greatest battle ever fought in the history of the world. But they have paid the price, for it is estimated that the Germans lost in this battle close to 200,000 in killed, wounded and missing.

Not only was the battle the greatest in history, but the prize is momentous. The capture of the city of Lodz means to the victor the control of the most important railroad in Russian Poland—a railroad leading straight to Warsaw, the capital of Russian Poland, whose capture is the object of the German strategy in the east.

Lodz, a city of some 415,000 population, is the chief manufacturing center of the Russian Poland. It has numerous textile mills, the majority of them for the manufacture of cotton goods. In addition, it has flour mills, dyeing establishments, brick yards, machinery plants and breweries. The population is made up of Poles, Germans and Jews.

"Roumania Decides To Enter War." Geneva, via London.—The Journal de Geneve publishes a dispatch from Bucharest which says that Roumania has definitely decided to enter the war on the side of the allies. The decision, according to the dispatch, is in accordance with the wish of the entire country, including King Ferdinand and all the Roumanian statesmen.

The attitude of Bulgaria still remains doubtful. Greece, Serbia and Roumania have proffered certain concessions, which, however, Sofia seems not to consider a sufficient inducement. Oostend Reported To Be In Flames. Dunkirk.—Oostend is reported to be on fire, believed to have been caused by bombardment by British warships.

the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Caldwell. They were acquaintances back in Kentucky years ago. At the wedding of Mr. Deatherage, Mr. and Mrs. Caldwell were best man and bridesmaid, and Mr. Caldwell and Mr. Deatherage served together in the Confederate Army. For many years they lived in the same neighborhood, back in Kentucky, and their meeting now is a most pleasant one. Mr. Deatherage visited here ten years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Deatherage have returned. They had a delightful trip.

The Parent-Teachers Association held a most delightful meeting at the Model School on Friday afternoon. Mrs. C. H. Vaughn read an interesting paper on "Adolescence," and as several of those on the program were not present, the Club as a whole discussed the subjects of "Trachoma" and the "Dangers of the School Desk." A beautiful feature of the afternoon was the singing by Mr. Grayston Lewis, accompanied by a little social session, when Mrs. Wm. Langford, Mrs. Chas. Douglas, Mrs. Dick Colyer and Mrs. Harry Blanton served hot chocolate, wafers and mints. (Additional Personals on Page 2)

"35 Years Ago" Column Appreciated.

Big Deal

Col. H. H. Colyer, our local candidate for the office of State Auditor, has just returned from Louisiana, where he made an extensive deal and traded some of his valuable stock for a farm containing about 300 acres. Mr. Colyer traded some ten animals—some of his fine jacks and jennets and other stock, for which he has long been famous as a dealer. John S. Green negotiated the sale for himself and Clark & Kirkpatrick on the other side. Mr. Green was here and personally inspected and accepted the stock and shipped it to Louisiana.

Circuit Court Convened in Estill

Circuit Court began in Estill Monday. A large number of cases, both civil and criminal, are docketed for trial at this term. Judge W. A. Young, of Morehead, has been designated by the Governor to sit in a number of cases in which Judge Riddell is disqualified by reason of being connected with them as counsel previous to his election to the office of circuit judge. The regular term will last two weeks, and it is probable that a special term will be ordered hereafter.

A Nervous Wreck

Had No Desire To Live
Peruna Is A Tonic and Strength Builder So Says

Mrs. Frank Stroebe, R. F. D. 1, Appleton, Wis. Her letter reads:

"I began using Peruna a few months ago when my health and strength were all gone, and I was nothing but a nervous wreck. Could not sleep, eat or rest properly, and felt no desire to live."

"Three bottles of Peruna made me look at life in a different light, as I began to regain my lost strength. While my recovery took nearly four months, at the end of that time I was better than I ever had been before. I had a splendid color and never weighed more in my life."

"I certainly think Peruna is without a rival as a tonic and strength builder, and it has my endorsement."

Mr. Charles Brown, R. R. 4, Box 78, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I have tried many different remedies, but have found that Peruna is the greatest tonic on earth, and a perfect system builder."

SCIATICA CURED

Guy Torley, Famous Cyclist, Recovered After Using Rheuma.

Had Been a Cripple On Crutches—Spent $300 Seeking Relief.

If you are a chronic sufferer from rheumatism do not give up hope. Go to B. L. Middleton or any druggist and get a bottle of Rheuma costing 50 cents.

Before it is all used you will realize that the disease is going to permanently leave you. Read this testimony of how quickly this wonderful rheumatism remedy works.

"Bijou Theatre, Tyronne, Pa.—My wife and I perform a sensational bicycle act under the stage name 'The Torleys.' Last summer I was so crippled with sciatic rheumatism I could not walk without crutches. I spent over $300, but received no help. I had tried nearly everything, but was finally persuaded to try Rheuma. By the time I had taken three bottles the rheumatism had entirely left me. Since then I have sent Rheuma to every friend whom I know has rheumatism. They have all told me it has cured them. Will answer all letters sent to my home address, 265 Dayton avenue, Saint Paul, Minn.—Guy Torley.

Rheuma will do just as much in your case. It drives out all uric acid poison, brings swollen joints down to normal, reduces the pain, and restores the whole system without the least injury to the heart. If it fails your druggist will return your money.—Adv. Dec. 2-9.

Church Workers' Conference.

A recent issue of the Three States contains pictures of Prof. J. T. Henderson, Chattanooga, and Dr. D. Clay Lilly, of Nashville, Tenn., who made addresses at the Church Workers' Conference, held at Middleboro November 29-30.

A TEXAS WONDER.

The Texas Wonder cures kidney and bladder troubles, dissolves gravel, cures diabetes, weak and lame backs, rheumatism, and all irregularities of the kidneys and bladder in both men and women. Regulates bladder troubles in children. If not sold by your druggist, will be sent by mail on receipt of $1.00. One small bottle is two months' treatment, and seldom fails to perfect a cure. Send for testimonials from this and other states. Dr. E. W. Hall, 2235 Olive street, St. Louis, Mo. Sold by druggists.

Seven Keys to Paldpate.

Seven Keys to Paldpate, George M. Cohan's galloping farce, based on Earle Deer Biggers' novel, which will be seen at the Ben. All Theatre, Lexington, is Cohan at his best. He has constructed something entirely different in stage offerings—a farce with tense dramatic moments and without horse-play. In fact, the audience is the one on which the joke is played. Cohan has achieved a new height in his career with one of his peculiar gifts, drawing characters so true to life that they have a chance at immortality, and this through the medium of farce. Until Cohan brought his genius and ingenuity to bear, shudderingly melodramatic situations have never been able to work in harmony with gales of laughter. But that is what "Seven Keys to Paldpate" exemplifies. The plot of the play is so clever that to tell it in detail would detract from the enjoyment of witnessing it. The main body of the play within the play is in two acts. A prologue precedes it and an epilogue succeeds the concrete play itself.

Seven Keys to Paldpate is one of the greatest successes of the stage today. It played to over a year at the Gaiety Theatre, New York, and for six months at the Cohan Grand Opera House, Chicago. The original cast and production will be seen in Lexington. Included in the company are Lee Stierett, William Gibson, Spencer Charters, Walter D. Green, Frank Monroe, J. Hooker Bright, Ethel Ingrid, Chris Mayo, Rita Harlow, Joan Shelby, Laura Bennett, Fannie Mackay and others.

Orders for seats, accompanied by remittance, will receive prompt and courteous attention from Manager Charles Scott, care of The Ben All, Lexington.

STOP BUYING EXPENSIVE COUGH REMEDIES.

Make The Best At Home.

Money spent for the old style, ready-made, cough syrups in bottles holding only 2 to 3 ounces is very largely wasted, because most of them are composed principally of sugar and water. Yet you have to pay the same price for it as if it was all medicine. Stop wasting this money. You can make a better cough medicine at home at one-fifth the cost. Merely go to Henry L. Perry's Drug Store and ask for 2 ounces (50c worth) of Schiffman's Concentrated Expecto-rant. Mix this with one pint of granulated sugar and one-half pint of boiling water, which makes a full pint (16 ounces). This new, simple, pleasant remedy is guaranteed to relieve the worst cough or cold. Also excellent for Bronchial Asthma, Bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and whooping cough. One bottle will make enough home made cough medicine to probably buy last the whole family the entire winter. Children like it, it is so pleasant to take and it positively contains no chloroform, opium, morphine or other narcotics as do most cough mixtures. Keep it on hand in case of emergency and stop each cough before it gets a firm hold. The above drug store has been authorized to return the money in every single case where it does not give perfect satisfaction or is not found the best remedy ever used. Absolutely no risk is run in buying this remedy under this positive guarantee.—Adv. Dec. 2 to Jan. 6.

Combinations.

We can obtain any magazine or paper in combination with our paper. Now, while the spirit is on you, give your absent relative or friend the Climax-Madisonian.

Keep It Handy For Rheumatism.

No use to squirm and wince and try to wear out instead. Apply some of Sloan's Liniment. It is not rub it in just let it penetrate all through the affected parts, relieve the soreness and draw the pain. You get ease at once and it does give almost instant relief. Buy a bottle to-day—Adv.

The nicest Christmas present that you can make your absent relative is THE CLIMAX-MADISONIAN for one year.

A Silver Tea Caddy

By SOFET F. GOULD

HE was a frail-looking little girl, who had been self-supporting for over three years, since her mother died, and was tired now, as she walked through the street crowded with shopgirls like herself.

Listlessly, in order for a minute to avoid the onrush of hurrying humans, she paused before a shop window where antiques of all kinds were grouped attractively.

There was little in the window to interest a mite of a girl earning a paltry $6 a week, yet at a sudden her eyes, a moment before so tired, lighted excitedly, and a casual observer might have noticed how exquisitely beautiful they were. The tired line of her mouth also relaxed, and hopefully she stepped closer to the plate glass and peered for a long, concentrated moment at a silver tea caddy of quaint design.

After a moment's hesitation she opened the door and walked bravely into the little shop.

Belgian Relief Fund.

The meeting of the Woman's Club and friends took place at the First Christian church Monday afternoon, Nov. 30.

Dr. Telford opened the meeting with a beautiful prayer for those in distress through the European war, and the meeting resulted as follows:

That boxes for the collection of relief funds be placed in the banks and stores for one month, to be called in the final week in January.

Further, through Dr. Telford's suggestion, which met with general approval, it was agreed to hold a mass meeting and service for children and parents one Sunday afternoon during this month, to be called the Children's Self-Denial Service.

Representatives were chosen from the different churches, who met at Mrs. Voken's home, Woodland Ave., on Monday at 2:30 p. m. to arrange details in regard to this matter.

In the meantime the parents of Richmond are asked to set aside half the money they intend to expend on their children during Christmas time, and at this service the children themselves will be asked to give the money for the destitute Belgians. It is undoubtedly an excellent idea for creating selfishness and sympathy in the young hearts that have so much to be thankful for.

Mrs. James Bennett very kindly offered and promised to give $1 a month for six months towards the fund and Mrs. Rhodes Shackelford and Miss Gibson, of the Normal School, followed her generous example.

The Citizens National Bank has opened an account known as the Belgian Relief Fund and will be glad to report further donations.

The Million Dollar Mystery

ment. The cave was not a deep one. There was no tunnel, only a wall. Resolutely she raised the lid of the chest, stepped inside, and drew the lid down. She was just in time. The door opened and three men entered, talking volubly. They felt perfectly secure in talking as loudly as they pleased. To Florence it seemed almost impossible that they did not hear the thunder of her heart. Strain her ears as she might, she could gather but little of what they said, except: "If Hargrave had this paper we might all be put on the defensive. To an outsider it is a blank paper. But the boss will be able to read it."

The speaker moved away from the vicinity of the chest and she heard no more.

Very daintily Florence raised the lid just enough to peep out. The man who had been talking was putting the note in his hip pocket. As he turned toward the chest he sat down on the soapbox immediately in front of the chest. An inspiration came to the girl, an exceedingly daring one. She took her liberty in her hands as she executed the deed. But the dimness of the cave aided her. When she crouched down again the magic paper was hers.

It seemed hours to her before the men left the cave. As she heard the hidden door jar in closing she raised the lid and stepped out, breathing deeply. The paper she had purloined was indeed blank, but Jones or Jim would know what to do with it. And wouldn't they be surprised when she told them what she had accomplished all alone? Her exultation was of short duration. She heard the whine of the door on its hinges. The men were returning. Why?

They were returning because they had discovered a woman's shoeprint outside. It pointed toward the cave, freshly, and there was none coming away. To reenter the chest would be foolhardy. It would be the first place the men would look. She glanced about desperately. She saw but one chance, the wall. And even while the door was swinging inward, letting the brilliant sunshine enter, she summoned up the courage and let herself down into the well, which proved to be nothing more nor less than an underground river!

The men came in with a rush. They upset boxes, looked into the chest, and the man who was evidently in command gazed down well, shaking his head. Their search was thorough, but they found no one. And at length they began to reason that perhaps a woman had got as far as the door and then turned away, walking on the turf.

Meantime Florence was borne along by the swift current of the river, which gained in swiftness every moment. From time to time she bumped along the rocky walls, but she clung to life valiantly. In ten minutes she was swept to the other side of the hill, into the rapids; but the blue sky was overhead, she was out in the familiar world again. On, she was carried. Even though she was half dead, she could hear the roar of a falls some where in advance.

Braine thought he really had a clue to the treasure, and with his usual promptness he set about to learn if it was worth anything. He procured a launch and began to row about, using a pole as a feeler. All the while he was being closely watched by Norton, who had concluded to hang onto Braine's trail till he found something worthy of note. Braine was disgusted, but this time Jim was not to be fooled. But what was he looking for, wondered the reporter? Braine continued to pole alone, sometimes pawning to look over the guzzle down into the water. In raising his head after the last investigation he discerned something struggling in the water, about three hundred yards away. The current leisurely brought the object into full view. It was a young woman with just power enough to keep herself afloat. The golden head rounded something in him stronger than curiosity. It might be!

Braine proceeded to move the launch in the direction of the girl. It was this movement that turned the reporter's gaze. He, too, now saw the woman in the water and wondered how she had come there. When Braine reached the girl and pulled her into the launch Jim saw her face plainly. He flew from his vantage point, found a skiff, and started after Braine. "By the Lord Harry!" murmured the rogue. "Well, they can talk of manna from heaven, but this is what I call luck. Florence Hargrave, out of nowhere, into my arms! The god of luck has cast another horseshoe and it's mine."

He had a flask in his pocket, and he forced some of the biting spirits

"You're a dead man, Norton!" planted Braine, as he reached for the reporter's throat.

Norton said nothing, but struck the hand aside. For a moment they both went under. They came up sputtering, each trying for a hold. It was a terribly enervating struggle.

Florence could do nothing. The boat in which she sat continued to drift away from the fighting men. Once she tried to reach Braine with the pole he had been using, but failed. From the shore came another boat. For awhile she could not tell whether it contained friends or enemies. It was terrible to be forced to wait, absolutely helpless. When she heard the newcomers call encouragingly to Braine she knew then that the brave fight of her sweetheart was going to be continued.

A WARNING TO MANY

Some Interesting Facts About Kidney Troubles.

Few people realize to what extent their health depends upon the condition of the kidneys.

The physician in nearly all cases of serious illness, makes a chemical analysis of the patient's urine. He knows that unless the kidneys are doing their work properly, the other organs cannot readily be brought back to health and strength.

When the kidneys are neglected or abused in any way, serious results are sure to follow. According to health statistics, Bright's disease, which is really an advanced form of kidney trouble, causes nearly ten thousand deaths in 1913, in the state of New York alone. Therefore, it behooves us to pay more attention to the health of these most important organs.

An ideal herbal compound that has had remarkable success as a kidney remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The mild and healing influence of this preparation, in most cases, is soon realized, according to sworn statements and verified testimony of those who have used the remedy.

If you feel that your kidneys require attention, and wish a sample bottle, write to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper, enclose ten cents and they will gladly forward it to you by Parcel Post.

Swamp-Root is sold by every druggist in bottles of two sizes—50c and $1.00.—Adv. Nov. 25-1m.

Pretty Shades for Christmas Candles

PRETTY candle shades for the dressing case or for the candles of the dinner or luncheon table, are sure to delight the home-maker, so that she can have the most acceptable of Christmas gifts to everyone who loves the little touches that add to the beauty of the home.

Candle shades of figured silk, or silklike or thin ribbon, may be made over small wire frames, with the silk put on in plaits or plain or fluted. The thin ribbons are easily handled.

Small wire frames are to be bought ready made and come in a variety of shapes and sizes. Sometimes the frame is made of stiff cardboard, but this is not durable nor as satisfactory as that of wire.

To make shades like that shown in the picture take flowered ribbon or strips of silk a half-inch wider than the width of the wire frame. Lay it in plaits a little less than a half inch deep, or have it plaited on a plaiting machine. Sew one edge of the plaited strip over the top wire of the frame, crowding the plaits close together. Sew the other edge over the bottom wire. Spreading the plaits evenly is necessary. Conceal the sewing and border the shade at the same time with the braid in silver or gilt.

Besides pains in my back and kidneys, I had other symptoms of kidney complaint. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, I got a box at Middleton's Drug Store and they cured me."

A Vagrant Christmas Gift

By ALBERT EDWARD CONVERSE

(Copyright by Frank A. Munsey Co.)

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Smith understood each other perfectly on the Christmas present proposition. This satisfactory state of affairs did not come about the first year of their wedded life, nor even the second. The third Christmas was almost at hand before Mr. Smith discovered accidentally, but to his intense joy, that Mrs. Smith relished his selection of furs, gloves, cravats, rugs, and, on no more than did he her choice of smoking-jackets, cravats, mufflers, or cetera.

That their friends could not be taken in on the combination was, however, a thorn in the flesh of each of them.

"The worst has happened," said Mrs. Smith, interrupting Mr. Smith's perusal of the paper Christmas morning.

"A messenger just brought a present from the Snivelys, and I forgot to put them on my list. It's a book and we've got to send them something."

"Well, what are we going to do about the Snivelys?" growled Mr. Smith.

"Jack," said she in a moment, "I've had an inspiration. Why couldn't we send the Snivelys the book that Cousin Lucy sent us? Neither of them will ever know it."

"By George! We'll do it," said Mr. Smith, after considering the proposition. "Where is Cousin Lucy's book?"

"It's on the desk," said Mrs. Smith. "Just put our cards in the book and wrap it up neatly. I'll call a messenger boy."

Half an hour later Mr. Smith handed a package, addressed to Mr. Snively, to a messenger boy and saw him depart with it. He was luxuriously stretched out on a davenport when Mrs. Smith came into the room a few minutes later.

"Jack," said Mrs. Smith, holding a book in her hand, "I thought you were going to wrap this book up."

"Great Scott!" exclaimed Mr. Smith, jumping to his feet. "I did wrap up the book. The messenger has already been here and I gave it to him."

"How long has the boy been gone?" demanded Mrs. Smith.

"About ten minutes."

"Get your things on. Be quick, and maybe you can reach the Snivelys before the boy and get that dreadful book away from him! How could you have been so careless?"

Mrs. Smith was almost frantic.

Down to the nearest street car tore Mr. Smith, fairly consumed with rage.

He had arrived at the downtown district when, with a thrill of joy, he spied the messenger boy. Without waiting for the car to stop, Mr. Smith jumped off and started on a run for the boy.

At the same moment the messenger boy saw him, and, without knowing why he was being pursued, he obeyed his first impulse and ran too.

In a moment a dozen had joined in the chase. Down the street came the poor messenger boy, frantically straining every muscle to get away from the mob pursuing him. Suddenly two men from a cross street ran in front of the boy. One threw his arms around the fugitive, holding him fast; the other man seized the package the boy was carrying.

"Why, Snively! This package is addressed to you!" he exclaimed.

"Why, so it!" said the man who had caught the boy.

In a moment they were surrounded by a crowd. A policeman rushed up and took charge of the boy.

"Hold on there, officer, the boy's all right!" cried Mr. Smith, who had arrived upon the scene by this time.

"What do you know about this affair?" said the policeman respectfully, as he recognized Mr. Smith.

But Mr. Smith was standing as one dazed. He had caught sight of Mr. Snively with the book under his arm.

"Hello, Smith," said Mr. Snively. "I just saw caught this boy, and found him carrying a package addressed to me, so took charge of it. Do you know anything about it?"

"Why—why—yes," stammered Mr. Smith, trying to collect his wits. "You see, I sent the package."

"Well, why were you chasing the boy?" asked the policeman, a little impatiently.

The perspiration stood out on poor Mr. Smith's forehead.

"I was afraid I hadn't given the boy the right address, and was trying to stop him to find out," he blurted in desperation.

The policeman looked at Mr. Smith curiously. He was convinced that he was lying, though with what object he could not imagine.

"The package has come to the right fellow anyway," said Snively, laughing. "I'm going right home, so I'll take it along with me."

"Oh, I couldn't think of allowing you to do that, old man!" cried Mr. Smith. "Just give it back to the boy!"

The Way to Smart Dress

Lies not through an extravagant expenditure of money, or a visit to scores of stores, or the inspection of hundreds of garments. Quite to the contrary, the smartness and style sought for by most women are achieved by concentrating on one store whose reputation is above reproach, and whose modes, materials and manner type the most advanced ideas. And, how will you recognize this store? Simply look for the STYLE-CRAFT emblem.

STYLE-CRAFT Suits, Coats and Cape-Coats are styled with that wonderful ingenuity and art possessed by only a few designers. Every garment is man-tailored by experts from a timely fabric—luxurious, pronounced or restrained, but in perfect harmony with the mode and the moment. Probably there are no tailors outside of the Style-Craft Shops who can achieve such nicety of curve and contour—such velvety smoothness—such uniform and perfect workmanship, who can so beautifully "bring out" that ultimate degree of style-value coveted by the fashionable woman.

The stylists of Paris, Vienna or New York cannot produce modes as charming as STYLE-CRAFT. It has taken months of constant effort—it has taken hundreds of skilled fingers—to make it possible for you to wear STYLE-CRAFT garments, but the opportunity is now yours. There are scores of alluring STYLE-CRAFT modes in Suits, Coats and Cape-Coats the "creme de la creme"—for you to glance at in our store. Come in at your first convenience
